FUGITIVE FROM CO. JAIL HERE IS IN CUSTODY

Gilbert Thorpe Walked Into Arms Of Moline Police

The second of the five fugitives from the Lee county jail who crawled through a small opening in the rear of the jail on the night of August 31 is again in custody. Gilbert Thorpe, 18-year-old inmate and considered one of the worst prisoners in the group, has been apprehended and is now in the county jail at Rock Island under heavy bond, connected with other alleged accomplices.

Kenneth Carlson, Thorpe's companion is now in the county jail at Bloomington held to the grand jury for the hold-up of a gasoline service station in that city recently. Both were arrested in Moline and brought back to Dixon for the theft of a Chevrolet coupe belonging to the F. X. Newcomer agency last summer. Chief of Police J. D. Van Bibber having brought them back from Moline. They had been held to the September grand jury and were in the county jail in default of bond when they took advantage of the jail delivery and escaped.

Deputy Sheriff Ward Miller was informed by Moline police today that Thorpe is held a prisoner in the county jail at Rock Island in connection with numerous holdups and robberies in the tri-counties, as well as automobile thefts.

The youthful bandit, who is wanted by authorities of two states for armed robberies, jail-breaks, burglaries and automobile thefts, was captured Wednesday by Officer Earl Smith of the Moline police department.

"Covered" Policeman
Thorpe had the policeman covered with a revolver, but the officer, who was not armed, swept the bandit's gun aside and pinned his arms to his side. The youth later talked freely of his crimes and implicated George Passmore, 21, of Moline, who was arrested later in the evening at his home.

Police also filed a "date" which Thorpe told them he had arranged with Miss Margaret Van Brantem of Moline, who was taken in custody on a charge of possessing stolen property. Officers said that she was wearing jewelry taken by Thorpe in burglary.

Thorpe, for whom authorities have been searching since he smashed his way out of Dixon, literally strolled into the arms of the police.

Officer Smith, who is night patrol driver, was standing without cap or coat on the Seventh avenue side of the Moline city hall smoking a cigarette when Thorpe approached. Not recognizing Smith as a policeman, the bandit pointed to an unlighted cigarette in his mouth and asked, "got a match, buddy?"

Was Recognized
The policeman dug into his pocket and produced a match. As he started to hand it to Thorpe, he

Chicago Milk Now Costs A Cent More

Chicago, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Housewives in Chicago and nearby cities began leaving an extra penny for the milk man today as the price went up from 10 to 11 cents a quart in keeping with an agreement approved by the Department of Agriculture.

However, it's the farmer and not the dairymen who stands to gain on the new price scale as all the benefits amounting to an estimated $75,000 a week, have been promised him.

The Pure Milk Association, Farmers' Cooperative and sponsor of the increased retail price, said it was attempting to strike at independents who have been selling at eight cents a quart, by dipping into their supplies.

SIX STATES TO VOTE ON REPEAL BALLOT TUESDAY

Fate Of the 18th Amendment May Be Finally Settled Then

Washington, Nov. 3.—(AP)—By next Tuesday midnight the nation should know whether the 18th Amendment is to be deleted from the Constitution.

Ballots in six states will tell the tale, although actual ratification of the result, in state conventions, cannot come before December 5.

Kentucky Tuesday postpones tabulation of ballots for a day, but returns from Pennsylvania, Ohio, Utah, and North and South Carolina should show the outcome.

Administration leaders express no doubt about the result, claiming that all these states will join the wet parade now numbering 23 commonwealths. Thirty-six states are necessary for ratification of the substance constitutional amendment, leaving but three to be added.

The hours, (in CST) at which the polls close in the six states are:

When Polls Close
Pennsylvania 6 P. M.; Ohio 5; Utah 10; North Carolina sundown, about 4:20; South Carolina 3, except 5 in three cities; and Kentucky 5, with the count deferred a day.

Early tabulation is expected in most of the states because of the few issues before the voters.

Reports to administration officials from the states indicate:

Police said the origin of the fire was of suspicious character and ordered an investigation.

CHICAGO GANGS GET VICTIM IN MANICURE SHOP

Harry Teuber Was Killed By Unseen Enemy On North Side

Chicago, Nov. 3.—(AP)—If anybody knew anything about Harry Teuber's business affairs, he, or she, did not attend the inquest today.

After listening to testimony that consisted mainly of "I don't know," the coroner's jury was unable to decide who fired four pistol bullets into Teuber's head as he sat at a manicurist's table in a north side barber shop late yesterday.

His wife, Elsie, said she guessed Harry was a traveling salesman and sold merchandise. She could not recall his mentioning during their 11 years of married life anything about how he made a living.

Sweetheart Testified
Annette Scaglione, 25, his sweetheart, didn't even know he was married, she testified, but during their two years of association she got an inkling now and then that he might have been a gambler.

When asked if he thought Teuber's death had anything to do with the slaying of "public enemy" Gus Winkler and the suicide of Edgar Lebensberger.

Coroner Frank J. Walsh pointed out to the jury that Miss Scaglione's father had been a waiter in Lebensberger's 225 Club and that Teuber was a gambler in a district where such things were dominated by Winkler.

Miss Scaglione was in the barber shop having a hair trim when the killer crept in the back door. But she didn't see the assassin. Neither did Ethel Gauss, the manicurist, nor Herbert Pons, owner of the shop.

All of them declared they would be unable to recognize the gunman and most of them indicated they wouldn't care to attempt identification of any suspects.

Mrs. Teuber said Harry didn't appear at all worried when he visited her Tuesday and left money for her and their three children. Police said they found Miss Scaglione's and Teuber's luggage packed in her apartment, and Miss Scaglione said they had been thinking about taking a little trip.

The Chicago American said it had learned Teuber had been trying to sell a batch of $1,000 bonds at half price. The newspaper said the bonds were part of the loot from a quarter million dollar mail robbery here a year ago.

Lebensberger had been indicted for the robbery a few hours before he committed suicide, and Winkler was scheduled to be questioned about it.

PROF. WILLIAM STRONG VICTIM PAINFUL MISHAP

Veteran Music Teacher Struck By Auto In Rainstorm

Prof. William F. Strong, 312 Third street, is a patient in the Katharine Shaw Bethua hospital, suffering from injuries sustained in being struck by an automobile last evening about 5:15 at the intersection of Peoria avenue and First street. Lowell Wilson, 511 Nachusa avenue, was the driver of the car.

Prof. Strong was on his way to his home from his studio and was crossing from the north to the south side of First street, during the heavy rain storm at that hour. He evidently did not see the car approaching and the driver, blinded by the heavy down pour, did not see the music instructor until just before the crash. He succeeded in stopping his car before the wheels passed over the victim. Wilson assisted in removing the unconscious man to the Henry Briscoe haberdashery and later made a report of the accident to the police.

Prof. Strong sustained a deep scalp wound and a possible fracture of the collar bone. He was removed to the hospital where his injuries were dressed and this morning submitted to a further x-ray examination. His condition was reported to be fair at noon today.

Two Accidents On New Resurfacing On Lincoln Hiway

Sherman Leseth, Chicago salesman, suffered painful injuries to his right leg when his coupe crashed into a tree near Palmyra avenue on the Lincoln Highway west of the city last evening about 5 o'clock. Leseth was reported to have turned out to avoid crashing into a west bound car, when his machine skidded on the new surfacing, left the paving and crashed into a tree. His car was considerably damaged and was brought to a local garage. Leseth was brought to Dixon and a physician treated his injuries.

About 6:30 last evening near the foot of Lord's hill, a quantity of "vegetables" were scattered over the Lincoln highway paving when an east-bound car crashed into the rear of a trailer which bore no stop light. The trailer belonged to a Chicagoan who has been purchasing vegetables in the country and was on his way back to the city. Another car which was following did not see the trailer soon enough to avoid a crash. Both cars were damaged but the occupants escaped uninjured.

Buildings Substantial
Most of the buildings at the exposition are expected to weather the winter months in good shape, although some of them may have to be strengthened.

Mrs. Bertha Baur, club and society woman and one of the fair's sponsors, opened the meeting at which the vote was cast, by asking Daves about the exposition's financial situation.

"We were indebted $13,500,000, but all except $5,000,000 has been paid back," Daves replied.

He answered affirmatively when Mrs. Baur asked: "If the fair is held another year it is a foregone conclusion that the indebtedness will be wiped out and a profit made?"

"It looks like there will be a certain profit," he said, "and it seems a shame to think of throwing $21,000,000 worth of buildings on the grounds to the winds if the fair is ended this year."

Attended Funeral Of Popular Railroad Man Thursday

Mrs. Priscilla Smith has returned from South Pekin, where yesterday she attended the funeral of her brother-in-law, Carlson Wetter, veteran North train brakeman, who was well known and had many friends on the Nelson-Pekin division, where he had worked for the past nineteen years.

Mr. Wetter, who was transferred to the Southern Illinois division from Iowa about twenty years ago, passed away at the Pekin hospital Monday evening, death being due to peritonitis following an attack of appendicitis.

He was born in Gliden, Ia., Aug. 18, 1864, and was married to Miss Hazel Hall at Dixon, Ia., Dec. 10, 1913. He is survived by his widow; a son, Jack; and the following sisters and brothers: Mrs. Bessie Hanson, Clarion, Ia.; Mrs. Dorothy Jorgensen, Eagle Grove, Ia.; and Howard Wetter, DeKalb, Ill. One child, Marose, preceded him in death.

World's Fair Will Run Through 1934 Director Of Association Decides

Unanimous Action Is Taken At Meeting Held Today

Chicago, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Officials of the World's Fair decided today to hold the exposition over for 1934.

The action was taken by members of the World's Fair Association, composed of original charter members of the organization that made the exposition possible.

The members voted unanimously to amend the by-laws of the association and the corporation to permit continuance next year. Officials said they expected little difficulty in obtaining needed legislation from the state legislature.

Rufus Dawes, president of the Fair, announced after the association's decision that what was needed most to keep the fair another year was "evidence of demand by, and substantial support of, the business men and the people of Chicago."

Will Need Millions
About $1,000,000 would have to be raised by business interests and individuals, it has been estimated. Business leaders have said there probably would be little difficulty in that direction.

The federal government has been placed on record by President Roosevelt as willing to make an appropriation. Concessionaires at the exposition recently voted by an overwhelming majority to do business for another year.

About $35,000,000 has been taken in at the gate and by concessionaires since the exposition opened five months ago. The closing date has been extended from Nov. 1 to the end of next week.

FEDERAL AGENTS SEEK GANGSTER-PLANE BOMBER?

Chicago, Nov. 3.—(AP)—A theory that a bomb left aboard a New York-to-Chicago Transport plane exploded and caused it to crash with the death of its seven occupants near Chesterport, Ind., was advanced today by the Tribune when it said it had learned federal men were seeking a gangster.

The Department of Justice agents refused to comment, the Tribune said it had learned from an authoritative source that the man sought, whose name was not given, would be charged with murder for having left the explosives aboard while a passenger on a previous trip.

Air Officials Silent
Officials of the United Air Lines, operators of the giant twin-motored ship that dropped out of the skies the night of October 10 while farmers watched, said they were not at liberty to comment. They said their part in the investigation was merely to supply information.

However, witnesses at the coroner's inquest the day after the crash were generally agreed that an explosion preceded the crash of the plane, but no one was prepared to say what caused it.

The Tribune today said that Department of Justice agents were working on the theory that the gangster travelling with the bomb may have feared he would be searched at the end of the journey and have hidden it under a pile of blankets in a compartment.

The news of the passing of the venerable Sterling man, who was well known in Dixon, will bring sorrow to his many friends here. Funeral arrangements had not been announced at noon today.

Pitcher Starr Is Suing For $50,000

Pana, Ill., Nov. 3.—(AP)—Ray F. Starr, pitcher for the Boston National League baseball club, has filed suit in the Shelbyville county Circuit Court for $50,000 damages against M. S. Michaels, whose motor truck figured in automobile accident in which Starr was injured.

The accident occurred last spring near Sandoval, Ill. Starr asserts his back was injured and that he could not participate in full spring training with his teammates.

Overall Symbol Of Discontent Of The Farmers

Kansas City, Nov. 3.—(AP)—In the middlewest, where wheat embargoes and farm strikes evince the farmer's strong conviction that prices of what he has to sell have lagged behind prices of what he must buy, the overall has become the symbol of agrarian discontent.

The price of a pair of overalls, standard everyday apparel of the man who works in the fields, has been singled out for repeated protest at farm gatherings. It has come to typify, in the agricultural mind, the higher retail prices which many farm leaders contend press most severely upon rural residents.

Inquiry at Kansas City retail establishments disclosed that overalls costing a farmer 59 to 69 cents a pair early this year now sell for 89 to 98 cents. Overalls of better material and workmanship, which formerly sold for 98 cents, now bring 139.

Meantime the wholesale price of the latter grade, a buyer for a large store said, had increased from $9.50 to $16.50 a dozen. This meant that overalls costing the store $13.75 were being sold on a margin of 1 1/2 cents a pair.

Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 3.—(AP)—Farm pickets in five states shivered along highways today as cold winds swept midwestern prairies.

Proponents of the national farm embargo gathered in the largest force near Sioux City, blocked highways with railroad ties and halted livestock trucks.

As truck drivers were forced to stop, pickets unfurled end gates and cattle and hogs wandered away from their owners.

Led by Frank Buffington, anti-picket leaders, a group of 100 men attempted to dispose of the pickets who retreated to the Nebraska side of the bridge. Several were beaten in a succeeding encounter. Later the pickets were induced to return to their homes under escort of the non-strikers.

Reports of picketing were received from South Dakota, Minnesota, and northern Nebraska.

Government Is Said To Be Continuing Probe Of Crash

Chicago, Nov. 3.—(AP)—A theory that a bomb left aboard a New York-to-Chicago Transport plane exploded and caused it to crash with the death of its seven occupants near Chesterport, Ind., was advanced today by the Tribune when it said it had learned federal men were seeking a gangster.

Cermak Estate Is Over Half Million

Chicago, Nov. 3.—(AP)—The estate of the late Mayor Anton J. Cermak was estimated at $502,500 in an inventory filed in Probate Court today.

The inventory listed real estate valued at $62,250, stocks and bonds at $107,642 and other assets totaling $331,818. The latter item included about $35,000 cash.

The document was filed by the son-in-law of the assassinated mayor, Richey V. Graham.

Cermak owned among his securities several blocks of Insull stocks, 665 shares of Middle West Utilities, 500 shares of Insull Utility Investments, Inc., and two participation receipts for Insull Utility Investments. He also held $50,000 in Illinois State highway bonds and $25,000 in City of Chicago 6 per cent tax anticipation warrants.

Attention of the group has been concentrated almost entirely upon the price-fixing feature of their original program, which also called for quick inflation and the issuance of government currency to refinance obligations soon due.

Governor Schmedeman of Wisconsin said that "no conclusions have been reached as the basis for a program which would really help."

The attitude of the Government today indicated that they were less hopeful than at the conclusion of

GOVERNORS LESS HOPEFUL TODAY OF ANY PROGRAM

Conference At Washington Has Failed Of Any Results

Washington, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Gigantic marketing agreement under the Farm Act, covering the major farm commodities of the middle west, was proposed today at the conference between the administration and the Governors of five states as they sought agreement on an immediate farm price-lifting program.

This trend in the discussion was reached after Secretary Wallace had reported to the White House that difficulties had arisen in the effort to work out a price lifting program.

He said no report could be made to the President before tomorrow. Under the new suggestion before the conference an agreement would be drawn up under which farmers who signed would be guaranteed a fixed price for their products to be based on "parity" levels.

Washington, Nov. 3.—(AP)—The conference between five midwestern Governors and administration officials in an effort to life farm prices ran into difficulty today and Secretary Wallace announced plans to this end would not be ready before tomorrow.

"We are finding it is not quite as simple to work out details of the plan as it first seemed," said Wallace.

The Secretary of Agriculture spoke after reporting to President Roosevelt today the progress of the farm program tentatively outlined by the President and the mid-west Governors yesterday.

"It is a question of getting them all to agree on something that is workable," Wallace said.

"The Governors wanted flat price fixing. I think they have found out it will have to be looked into with considerable care. Among other things, in a limited area I think there is the question that these states might be holding he unbalanced over the others."

Meanwhile the Governors began a redraft of their program, having encountered both legal obstacles and practical difficulties in the way of their original proposal for outright fixing of prices at farm production cost plus a "reasonable profit."

Shortly before noon, on returning from the White House, Wallace said that "nothing definite" has been agreed upon.

He said that price-fixing was still under consideration and that "the administration would be willing to approve a program of this type providing there was adequate production control."

He indicated, however, that "adequate control"

Police records show that his home in Moline but he has been living in Deavenport of late Thorpe told the officers.

Long Police Record His police record dates back to his boyhood when he was arrested on several occasions for misdemeanors. His first serious offenses were committed in Iowa in 1932 and led to his imprisonment at the Iowa reformatory in Eldora. He was paroled from that institution but arrested and returned on April 30 of this year for violation of parole.

His real career of crime started in May of this year when he escaped from the Iowa reformatory. On July 6 he was arrested in Moline in possession of the automobile he had stolen in Dixon. With him was Kenneth Carlson, who was also taken into custody. Thorpe, then only 17, and Carlson were taken to the County Jail here to await trial. On Aug. 31, Thorpe and Carlson, with three others, escaped from the jail. Several of Thorpe's criminal activities have been listed since his escape from the jail here, it was reported, consisting of automobile thefts, armed holdups and robberies. Moline police stated today that Thorpe has admitted his part in numerous holdups and robberies in the tricycles and has implicated others.

Arraigned in Moline police court yesterday Thorpe pleaded guilty to two charges of robbery while armed and was held to the grand jury with bond fixed at $10,000. He was remanded to the county jail the Van Branteghem woman, alleged in default of bond. Passmore and accomplices, were also arraigned and are in jail in default of bond.

looked the youth in the face. "Wait a minute," he said. "I think we want you."

Thorpe stepped back quickly. His hand darted to his coat pocket and emerged with a .38 caliber revolver which he poked into the policeman's midsection.

At the same instant Officer Smith's clenched fist smashed down on Thorpe's hand which was holding the gun and swept the weapon aside. It was the work of a second for the officer to pin the bandit's arms to his sides and wrest the weapon from his numbed hand. He marched Thorpe into the station and locked him in a cell.

Thorpe said he did not know that Moline police would recognize him so was not afraid to stroll by the station.

COLOR ENLIVENS WINTER STYLES

Ribbed Silks Give Paris Models "New" Touch

BY JEAN PATOU

Written for NEA Service

Paris—Color being one of the big drawing cards in fashions generally, winter styles offer, in this respect, a much softer, not to say richer, attraction than summer styles.

Personally, I have never thought winter gowns either sad or somber. I have always endeavored, anyway, to select fall colors which offer a certain amount of luminosity and depth while remaining in the gamut of wintry tones. Despite all this, you cannot avoid somber effects in a fall collection and it is unavoidably less gay, less alive than a summer one. That is why I have always thought it useful, even necessary, to introduce vivid touches or color in winter models.

Another point to bear in mind, from the creator's point of view, is that it is almost impossible to prevent most women from wearing black for winter. Its advantages are indisputable and that is why every winter color I endeavor to introduce is selected with the object of replacing black to a certain extent. Hence my "wind blackberry" of this season.

Some people may object that winter modes should not try to emulate summer modes, and vice versa. This is perfectly correct, but the difference in fabrics employed is sufficient to offset any possible resemblance. Take the combination of black and white. This, on first thought, may appear essentially a summer feature, but this can very well be done on a winter dress.

Winter fabrics of today have lost any monotony of expression that they may have once possessed. Every season brings with it some technical novelty which provides an added feature and is of considerable assistance in the actual creation of a model.

This winter's novelty fabrics are inclined to be less dull and flat than before, and the reappearance of ribbed silks contributes a great deal to the "new" look of many a model.

Jane Badger Honored at Wellesley

Jane Badger, graduate of Amboy high school in the class of 1931, who is this year a junior at Wellesley, has been invited to join Agora, a prominent campus society to which only upperclassmen may belong. Invitations were extended to only twelve juniors.

As Wellesley has no sororities, an invitation to join one of the societies, each with its own house and special interest, is a distinct honor. The main function of the societies is social, but each organization has in addition some special interest. Agora's present economic, political and social problems.

A high scholastic standing and prominent participation in college activities are required before a student is accorded the honor of membership in Agora. The name Agora is taken from the Greek. It was the name of the market place in Athens renowned as a school for citizenship. Thus Agora is a fitting symbol of expression of the society's purpose.—Amboy News.

GERMANY'S SHOWDOWN MAY AWAKEN EUROPE.
There are two days of looking at almost everything, and the current war scare in Europe is no exception.
If you like, you can consider Germany's withdrawal from the League of Nations a calamitous step, a threat to the peace of the world and a harbinger of exceedingly stormy weather just ahead. It certainly looks like that, on the surface; certainly it has produced more war talk than anything that has happened since 1918.
But it is also possible to see in it one of those sudden shocks which occasionally jar a chemical solution into crystallization.

For there is this about it; into a meeting of statesmen who came to talk disarmament without having any very solid intention of doing anything concrete about it there stalked one man with nerve enough to toss a put-up-or-shut-up proposition on the table.
What Herr Hitler said, in effect, was simply this: We're here to discuss arms reduction, and under the Versailles treaty all hands are pledged to do a little reducing. Since you don't seem to be doing anything about this, Germany is out.
It was, in other words, something very like the calling of a bluff. Whether this was Hitler's motive in taking that step may not be clear; that, however, is what it seems to amount to.

If the Allied nations are shocked and worried by this drastic action, they have only themselves to blame.
They devised, in the Versailles treaty, a sure-fire means of keeping Germany's mind on the gains that could be had through a successful new war. They pledged themselves to cut their own armed forces, and then refused to do it. They held arms conference after arms conference and let each one fizzle out in a froth of empty words.
During the years since the war Germany had a succession of very "moderate" governments—governments which were devoted to keeping the peace. Concessions on treaty revision or arms reduction could have been made to those governments with safety. They were not made, although they were requested over and over again.
Now Germany has a jingoistic government which proposes to have a showdown. Menacing as the situation appears, it may be that this showdown will, in the long run, help to clear the air and remove the sense of unreality from the whole disarmament question.

FINDING THE TAX LIMIT.

As the life of federal prohibition becomes a matter to be numbered in days instead of months, legislators everywhere are turning their attention to the question of taxes which can be levied on the traffic in hard liquor.
Unquestionably one of the reasons which impelled Americans to vote prohibition off the books was the fact that federal and state governments can get a good deal of revenue by taxing this traffic. It is equally unquestionable that the traffic can stand a tax; unquestionable, also, that the various taxing bodies involved need the money very much.

But there is one thing to make a bad mistake in this connection. The one thing all Americans agree on is that bootlegging must stop; and if liquor taxes are put too high, bootleggers will be able to operate after prohibition ends just as they did before.

Finding just the right figures for taxation is apt to prove a pretty difficult sort of job.

The acrobats were tiny men. They loudly yelled, "Hello," and then the Mystic Man said, "All you Tinsies stand out of the way."
"Real clever tricks those men will do, and they might slip and fall on you," they'll whirl around upon that limb. To them it's just like play.
"All right," wee Duncy cried. "Let's go! I want to see how much they know. I'll do some acrobatic stunts, myself, when they are through."
"Say, I was in a circus, once, and I know lots of clever stunts," the Mystic Man replied. "We'll soon see just what you can do."
One man then, with apparent ease, hung from the tree limb by his knees. Another shouted, "Now watch me! I'll jump into the air."
"My friend will catch me by the feet. Oh, this will be a dandy treat! Of course, sometimes I miss and fall, but that is very rare."
The next thing that the Tinsies knew, the men did what they said they'd do. All of the Tinsies cheered and Duncy shouted, "Do some more!"
For 'bout a half an hour, or so, all of the men swung to and fro, and then they quit, because their little arms and legs were sore.
The Mystic Man cried, "Zicky Zool! Change back to blackbirds, all of you. The four men did, and very promptly flew right out of sight."
Then Duncy said, "I guess that I will pass my little stunting by. I couldn't match those men, although I tried with all my might."
"Ah, but you claimed that you were slick. I guess I'll MAKE you do a trick," exclaimed the tiny Mystic Man. He waved his hand around!
What happened gave the bunch a scare. Wee Duncy turned into a hare. "Don't worry," said the Mystic Man. "Just watch him run around."
(Duncy gets into serious trouble in the next story.)

THE HARDNESS OF LIFE

(By Dr. Joseph Fort Newell.)

All of us find life hard. Do we not? What is more, it is hard; terribly hard at times. It is no use doping ourselves to make it seem otherwise. If it is soft and smooth at first, it turns out to be hard in the end; because everything worth while costs a frightful lot!
Even those who do not seem to find life hard, those who are loved and loving and happy, only prove the fact—they are only half alive. These are some people in whom life is not intense. They do not enjoy very much, they do not suffer deeply. Of course, if one is not very much alive, one escapes a good deal of pain and heartache.
But alas, he escapes life too; dulls it down, lowers the octave of its music to a muffled song. The more life we have the more we feel, suffer, see, rejoice; and the more of everything we get out of life. For, if we are to get a lot out of life, we have to pay for it. On the market we may get something or nothing, but it is not so in life. The more people we love, the more profoundly we love them, the more deeply we are sure to be hurt. The more truly we love any person, the more cruelly that person can hurt us—often enough without intending to do so. This is true not because people are wicked and mean—sometimes they are—but because life is made that way.
By the same token, the more sensitive we are, the more deeply we can feel the more truth we know, the more beauty we see, the more joy is possible. Shakespeare saw more, felt more, thought more in one day than the average man does in a life-time; and what he saw and felt and thought he revealed in the great pageant of his drama—a world in itself, peopled with all the shapes that comedy and tragedy take.

After all, life is to be measured not by extent, but by intent and content. If to those who love, "every parting is a little death," it makes love more precious and profound, as death always does. Life, soft, easy, wandering is a form of death. If we live deeply, we live dangerously; we may get hurt, but we discover hidden depths of help and hope.

FISH TAPEWORM

If you are fond of gefullite fish, do not indulge unless you are sure that the fish has been cooked thoroughly.

For it has been observed that pike, pickerel and perch, three of the fish commonly used, are likely to carry the parasite of the broad tapeworm, that is, the tapeworm of fish.

It is interesting to note that this is a disease relatively new in the United States. Fish tapeworm is found among certain European people, but it only recently began to affect the native-born. The broad tapeworm was first identified in the United States in 1879 by Dr. Leidy. The patient in this instance, however, was a foreigner who evidently had contracted the infection abroad.

Fish tapeworm in a native individual was not reported until 1901. Since that time, however, numerous cases have been discovered.
Man becomes infected with the broad tapeworm by eating fish infected with the parasite. The fish in turn became infected by eating a type of small sea animal which feeds upon the developed eggs of the tapeworm. The eggs reach the waters through sewage.

So the cycle goes. The eggs are discharged in human waste and carried to waters where the eggs develop and are eaten by small sea animals called crustacea. The crustacea in turn are eaten by fish and thus the fish become infected, and the cycle is completed when man eats the infected fish.

The fish tapeworm has a head armed with hooks. The worm attaches itself to the mucous lining of the bowels and there lives its parasitic life. The worm is very prolific.

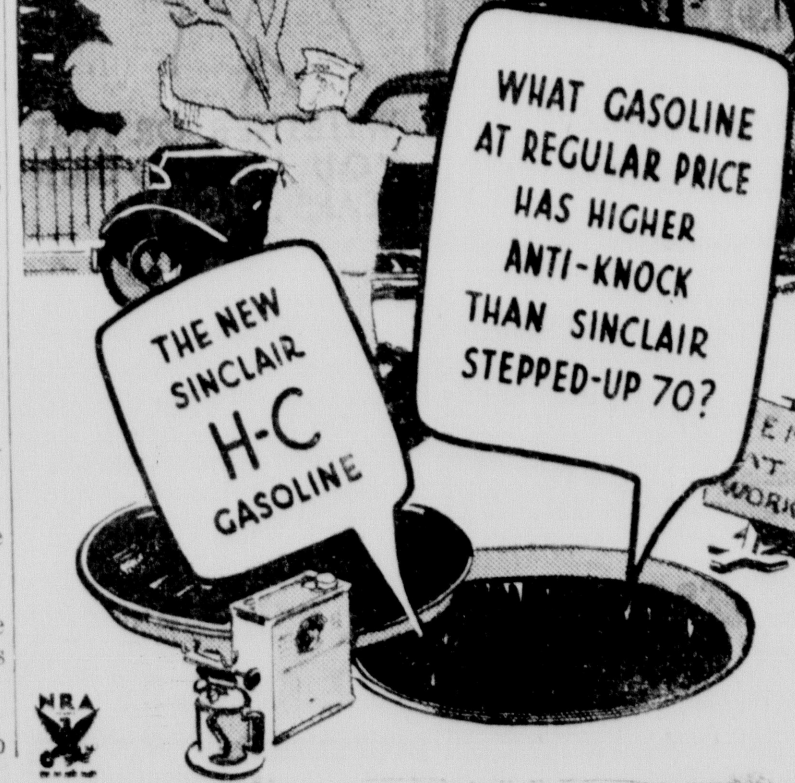

The fish tapeworm does not cause any very serious symptoms. The sufferers do, however, sometimes complain of nervousness, indigestion, weakness and loss of weight.

The appearance in the United States of the broad tapeworm, as the fish tapeworm is called, represents an important public health problem.

Treasury To Issue New Certificates
Washington, Nov. 3.—(AP)—The Treasury may soon issue eleven million dollars in silver certificates backed by silver received in last June's war debt payments.

The Thomas amendment to the farm law, which authorized acceptance of debt payments in this medium, required that the silver thus received be made the backing for an issue of certificates.

The process of assaying the metal has just been completed. The next step would be the engraving of the certificates.

SINCLAIR WILL FACE ANOTHER SENATE PROBE

His Stock Market Activities To Be Investigated

Washington, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Harry F. Sinclair, who spent three months in jail for challenging one Senate committee, will be asked to tell another next week about some of his stock market operations.

It will be his seventh appearance before a Senate committee when he responds to a summons of the stock market inquirers next Thursday. Nine and a half years ago he made his sixth appearance before the Teapot Dome investigators.

It was on that occasion—March 22, 1924—that the 57-year-old oil operator, then only 48, refused to answer ten questions regarding his lease of Teapot Dome naval oil reserve, a lease later cancelled after the Supreme Court held it invalid.

Only four of the questions were regarded as of sufficient importance to submit to the court in the contempt action.

Incarceration Delayed
Although found guilty of all four counts on March 16, 1927, he began his prison term more than two years later, appeal actions taking up the interim.

Sinclair was the second man convicted in the District of Columbia courts for contempt of the Senate. The first was Elverson R. Chapman, a New York stock broker, who was sentenced to one month and fined $100 in 1896 for refusing to reply to questions in a sugar trust investigation.

This time, the Senate again is seeking information connected with oil. It wants to know, now, all about his participation in a $35,000,000 pool handling Sinclair Consolidated Oil stock and the dealings which investigators say brought Sinclair a profit of more than $3,000,000.

Pennsylvania, wets leading by a substantial margin.

Kentucky, anti-prohibitionists confident of a majority.

Ohio, dries expect to force a close vote.

Utah, a tight squeeze for wets as they pursue fight.

North Carolina, dries in western section along with complicated voting forecasts uncertain outcome.

South Carolina, wets forging ahead despite little interest.

Besides repeal elections Tuesday the end of the three-cornered mayoral contest in New York City, and election of Assembly in New Jersey are scheduled.

UTAH SITUATION
Salt Lake City, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Leaders in Utahs repeal campaign, both those for and against abolition of the 18th Amendment, concede the outcome hinges on the attitude of the membership of the Latter Day Saints church.

The church membership is estimated as constituting about 60 per cent of the state's 150,000 votes. President Herbert J. Grant and other general officials of the church have asked for an anti-repeal vote next Tuesday, and the church women's and young people's organizations have been working for the same result.

"Spike" is shown here, with prodding finger and confidential leer, as he cornered the senator at the Chicago crime probe hearing, after his volunteer testimony had been frowned on by other senators.

Legion Answers New War Call—On Indiana Crime

Terrorized by a gang of escaped convicts, believed responsible for a series of recent bank robberies, Indiana is an armed camp. Services of American Legionnaires were offered the state and accepted. Legion squads, heavily armed, patrol the roads and halt cars, as shown above, to question drivers.

ing to that end, but a number of influential members have been quoted in the press as advocating repeal.

While the weight of the Utah Democratic party organization has been thrown officially on the side of repeal, Senator Elbert D. Thomas, has been the sole administration leader to carry on the fight personally in the state. His colleague, Senator William H. King, together with Governor Henry H. Blood and the state's two Congressmen, all of whom are Democrats have been in Washington, seeking public works funds.

Sinclair King and Secretary of War George H. Dern, who preceded Blood as Governor, have sent statements for publication in the state in which they advocated repeal.

OTHER ISSUES IN PA.

Philadelphia, Nov. 3.—(AP)—While each side is moving to bring out its full strength on the question of prohibition repeal, there appears to be more interest among Pennsylvania voters in the adoption or defeat of proposed constitutional amendments to be voted on next Tuesday.

Coincident with the campaigns to fill a host of municipal offices, leaders in the repeal movement have been quietly at work to elect their fifteen candidates to one state convention which acts December 5 on abrogation of the 18th Amendment.

Similarly, organizations interested in retention of the law have been active in arousing sentiment for their cause.

Vote On Sunday Games

All cities and other municipalities will vote on the question of permitting Sunday baseball and football between 2 and 6 p. m. and more than 300 communities will decide whether to permit the sale of beer for consumption on the premises within their corporate boundaries. Pittsburgh and Philadelphia, incidentally, are the only two cities with major league baseball teams where Sunday games are not permitted.

Apparently overshadowing the repeal fight, 12 proposed amendments to the state constitution are to be voted on and the outcome is in doubt on several.

ISSUES IN OHIO

Columbus, O., Nov. 3.—(AP)—Voters in Ohio, where temperance and prohibition were mothered from infancy to full growth, will ballot next Tuesday on a double prohibition issue.

Their votes will be cast on an amendment to the state constitution to wipe prohibition from that document, and on the selection of 32 delegates at large to a state convention to consider national repeal. The convention will be held December 5.

marked by a lack of interest on the part of the electors and a lack of fanfare which in previous years featured votes on prohibition. Officials of the Anti-Saloon League, which was founded in Ohio, claim that if they can get out the dry vote, especially in the rural sections, they have a chance to win. Some of the dry leaders have centered their battle against the state amendment.

Cold Wave Origin Obscure

Cold waves usually form high in the air over the northern and southern cold regions and move towards a warmer climate. But, according to the weather bureau, a cold wave occasionally occurs with its origin unknown, as there is no reserve of cold, heavy air piled up in either the Arctic or Antarctic regions at the time to cause such a movement. Some scientists and meteorologists are of the opinion that these cold spells may originate high over the equator, where the stratosphere is much higher and colder than at the polar regions. This is a matter that probably will not be settled until stratosphere flights are regular events.

Some Hard Winters

In 1280 the Baltic sea was crossed by sledge. In 1339 a great many persons were frozen to death in England. In 1409 the Danube was frozen from her source to her estuary in the Black sea. In 1409 all vines in France were killed by frost. In 1609 and 1639 the port of Marseilles was frozen over, and there was great suffering and distress. In 1709 France was ice-bound from north to south, the ice extending for miles seaward.

"Alcohol" an Eye Paint

The word "alcohol" is of Arabic origin, the term having been first applied to a black paint used by eastern women to darken their eyes. How it came to be used to designate the substance which now bears the name is not directly known. It has been facetiously suggested that it still serves as the vehicle for the production of blackened eyes.

SETTLEMENT OF MCCORMICK SUIT EXPECTED SOON

Attorneys Confer In New York: Woman Expects $250,000

New York, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Henry Uterhart, counsel for Mrs. Rhoda Tanner Doubleday in her $1,500,000 breach of promise action against Harold F. McCormick, wealthy Chicagoan, said today there might be negotiations for a settlement out of court.

John P. Wilson of Chicago, counsel for McCormick, is in New York. Uterhart asserted, adding that the question of a settlement has not been discussed by the attorneys for the two sides since before the case was started.

Uterhart's Chicago colleague in Mrs. Doubleday's case, Henry K. Upton, conferred with him last night. "I am going to my office and shall be open to offers," Uterhart said today. He has had no offers so far, he said, and no intimation that a settlement will be reached today.

The Chicago attorneys are not here by pre-arrangement, Uterhart said.

Expect $250,000
A cash settlement of at least $250,000 is expected by Uterhart. He said Mrs. Doubleday has in her possession 100 or more letters, which he described as "classics," written to her by McCormick.

Mrs. Doubleday is a socially prominent New York divorcee. After the suit was filed in Chicago October 24, McCormick announced that he would fight the action. Counsel for Mrs. Doubleday has intimated, however, that McCormick "didn't care to let the suit come to trial."

Gianna Walska, former opera singer, who divorced McCormick a few years ago, recently arrived from Paris. Asked whether her coming had anything to do with speeding up the present suit, Uterhart answered "I can see no connection."

Champion Of Hollerers Says "Ah" For Doctor

Cincinnati, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Lee Chrisman, who usually says "yee ho," said "ah-h-h" yesterday in the interests of medical science and to find out why he's "hollerin'" champion.

He is the 32-year-old Danville, Ky., auctioneer who broke all hollerin' records last February when he stood on a Cumberland Mountain top and let out a "yee ho" that was heard in three states and for eight miles.

Dr. Morris Hyman, to whom Chrisman said "ah-h-h," agrees with the hollerin' champion that he has extraordinary vocal apparatus, including a broad, high arch in the roof of his mouth, a large larynx—he wears a 17 and 1/2 collar—and vocal chords longer and thicker than those of most persons.

Chrisman also boasts a chest expansion of four inches and an extra large right frontal sinus cavity in which the champion in particular is interested. "I always twist my mouth to the right and turn my head slightly in the same direction when I holler," he says.

Boston's Name

This old town, about which centered so much of the early history of our country, was named for Boston in England. That town grew up around a church which was founded in Lincolnshire by a Roman monk by the name of Botolph or Botolph; that is, Botolph. As the town grew in size it was given the name of Botolphstow, which was contracted to Botolphston, and then to Boston. From the town in Lincolnshire there came to America Rev. John Cotton, who gave the name of Boston to the first settlement on the Massachusetts peninsula. Thus the Puritan settlement owed its name to a Roman Catholic saint and monk.

Lights of New York

By L. L. STEVENSON

Many a weary financier steals away from Wall Street these afternoon and rides one or more round trips on the Staten Island ferries. Some merely sit quietly watching the marine panorama. Others pace the decks either through nervousness or because of a desire to obtain exercise in the fresh air. Not infrequently business conferences are held aboard the big city-operated boats which run from the Battery to St. George. There is either a chance meeting or an appointment, and while the ferry is slipping by Governor's Island and the Statue of Liberty, a problem is threshed out or some agreement made. In the past, according to a financial district friend, deals running into millions have been consummated on the upper bay. In common with all the other passengers, the financiers, whether or not they intend to return to New York, immediately get off the boat at St. George. It's the rule that everybody must pass through a turnstile and drop another nickel.

Musicians aboard the Staten Island ferries aren't doing so well this season, no matter how hard the coins in the tin cup are jiggled under the noses of passengers, the returns are light. The musicians have to pay the holder of the concession for the privilege of playing on the boats—the holder of the concession having purchased it from the city. Saturdays, Sundays and holidays are the best, because on these days the crowds aboard the boats are merely riding for pleasure or bound for the Staten Island beaches. Asked as to the liberality of the Staten Island commuters, the violinist made a gesture with his bow, and his right shoulder went up at the same time.

It is on the Staten Island ferries that the bootblacks have the art of hissing down to a degree I haven't heard anywhere else. The way they say, "shoe shine?" gives the impression that a snake is about to strike. And the look they give when no tip is forthcoming is worse than the hiss!

Was told of a former Wall Street man on whom evil days had descended, such evil days indeed that his clothing was actually on the point of a disintegration. An old friend told him of an opening into which he would just fit. But he didn't dare make the application because of the state of his wardrobe. In desperation, he went through his effects in an effort to find something he could pawn. In an old trunk he discovered a small Bible. Thinking he might find inspiration, he opened it—and found a $20 bill! It had been placed there by his mother when he left home 15 years ago. He hurried out, purchased a suit at a Fifth Avenue sale, got the job, and is now coming back rapidly. His great regret is that the thoughtful mother died last year.

Barron Collier, who controls the street car, elevated and subway advertising, believes in boosting the President. His latest series of cards, under the familiar caption, "As Right as Roosevelt," reads: "Buying what you can is a good way to put into circulation your confidence in the nation's new leadership of faith and action."

Samuel E. Hendricks, whose memories of New York go back 65 years, told me the story of the Irishman working on the Navarro apartments, the famous "Spanish Flats," New York's first of its many apartment houses. The Irishman climbed down to get a can of beer. When he was back on the seventh-floor framework again, he fell through and ended up in the basement. Fortunately he hit on a pile of sand. "Are you hurt, Mike?" asked an anxious fellow workman. "I'm not hurt," was the response. "But I split the beer!"

Ancient Egyptians

The International Cyclopaedia states that the ancient Egyptians believed themselves to be an indigenous people, free from all foreign admixture, and all the known facts tend to favor their contention. Both their language and their physical characteristics show that they belong to the Hamitic branch of the Caucasian race, the white inhabitants of northern Africa. Some scholars believe that the Egyptians and the kindred Hamitic races migrated in prehistoric times from Asia to Africa while other scholars hold northern Africa to be the original home of the race. The people of Egypt are chiefly of mixed Arab and negro blood, but the Egyptian of pure blood is said to have much the same features as are to be found on mummies dating thousands of years back.

PENN. RAILROAD GETS HUGE LOAN FROM WORK FUND

Government Lends It So That Railroad May Improve Lines

Washington, Nov. 3.—(AP)—The government is embarking upon a new policy of making private loans from its $3,300,000,000 public works fund for the purpose of stimulating the basic steel and railroad industries.

As the initial step, the Public Works Administration has set aside $135,000,000 for the purchase of rails and work on the Pennsylvania line between New York and Washington.

Of this total, $51,000,000 will be loaned to railroads to purchase around 1,000,000 tons of new steel rails and 400,000 tons of spikes, cleats and fastenings for the rails.

Railroads which want to buy must notify Joseph B. Eastman, Coordinator of Transportation, and he will allocate the federal government's share of the purchase price. The rail price was fixed at $36.375 a ton just this week at a conference which steel men and Eastman had with President Roosevelt.

Called First Step

"This is the first real effort to break the slump in the capital goods industries," said H. M. Waite, Deputy Public Works Administrator.

to which Secretary Ickes, Administrator, added:

"It is the desire of the Public Works Administration to aid the stricken heavy industries toward recovery with the belief that this in turn will increase railroad traffic so that the roads may more easily meet their interest charges."

The loans, which will bear no interest the first year and 4 per cent thereafter, will spread money through a large number of industries, adding purchasing power in mining districts, factories, steel mills and railroad payrolls, Ickes said.

The Pennsylvania is to use $15,500,000 for electrification equipment, $16,525,000 for 132 electric locomotives, $16,000,000 for 7,000 freight cars, $1,087,000 for 28 multiple unit cars, $2,611,000 for widening a tunnel at Baltimore and $750,000 for reconstruction of the line at Elkton, Maryland.

Study Regulation Of Truck And Bus Traffic In State

Chicago, Nov. 3.—(AP)—The Illinois Commerce Commission has turned its attention to the regulation of truck and bus traffic and through its chairman, Benjamin F. Lindheimer, has issued a call for a conference of all shippers and operators next Monday.

Irvin Rooks, general counsel of the commission, said the action to place a bill before the state legislature was because the state was one of a few which does not regulate all highway transportation.

At present, Lindheimer said, the state exercises control over intrastate traffic only, while interstate traffic has shown a great increase.

SPORTS GREAT GAMES ON CARD IN BIG 10 LOOP TOMORROW

Illinois vs Michigan Battle Tops List In Interest

Chicago, Nov. 3.—(AP)—It was a most horrible shock to the Murphys, O'Briens, Flanagan and the Flahertys the day they discovered only two Irishmen playing football with the "Fighting Irish" of Notre Dame.

But it's time for the Ole Olsens, Gus Johnsons, and the Sven Petersons to brace themselves for some sad news. Here it is:

There's only one Swede on the regular lineup of the "Swedes from Minnesota!"

The startling, disturbing news to Swedish football fans and caption writers was revealed today by Coach Bernie Bierman against the Minnesota team to Evanston for tomorrow's skirmish against the alternately wild and tame Wildcats of Northwestern. Only one player of Swedish extraction was named on the probable starting lineup and he was a sophomore—George Svendsen, a 200-pound tackle from Minneapolis.

Not "All The Same"

A check-up of the nationality strain disclosed that on the probable starting lineup against the Wildcats were three Germans, two Norwegians, two Irishmen, an Englishman, an Italian, and Svendsen, the solitary representative of the nationality that once dominated Minnesota teams as the Irish did at Notre Dame. Yes, there were three Norwegians, but if you insist on calling them "all the same" with the Swedish, just start an argument like that sometime in a Norwegian-Swedish community.

Svendsen, a lanky standing six feet one inch, was more than able to uphold the honors for the Swedes. In his first season he had outmaneuvered, outplayed and outbattered many a hole for the hard driving Minnesota backs.

Expect 3,000 Rooters

Thirty-five Minnesota players, to be followed by 3,000 rooters, made the trip to Evanston after one of the most rousing send-offs in years. Improving rapidly, the Gophers rank as a heavy favorite to defeat the Wildcats and preserve their Big Ten championship hopes, now dimmed by the games against Purdue and Indiana.

Meanwhile, there was plenty of activity along the other Big Ten fronts as teams departed or finished plans to stem invasion from within and without the conference.

Michigan, top ranking favorite to win the championship, sent 13 players to Champaign, as the Illinois polished a two weeks' drill with work on a pass defense amidst a new wave of enthusiasm and confidence. Good weather and a crowd of 30,000 was expected for the game. Purdue, which has scored in 44 straight games, was ready for Carnegie Tech, a team that wasn't scored on this season; Indiana's critics were in good shape for Ohio State, and Wisconsin and Chicago, defeated in all their conference starts, were primed for their 37th annual battle at Chicago.

Iowa has its pass offense oiled up for Iowa State's invasion.

On the basis of their previous performances the maize and blue will be favored to win Saturday, but Coach Bob Zuppke has had two full weeks to prepare for Michigan and the tricks he may be ready to spring have the Michigan coaching staff worried.

At all Michigan practice sessions this week there has been evidence that the Wolverines fear Illinois forward passes.

Michigan is expected to start an all-veteran eleven against the Illinois tomorrow, composed of Petoskey and Ward, ends; Wistert and Austin, tackles; Savage and Kolwalk, guards; Bernard, center; Capt. Pay, quarterback; Everhard and Heston, halfbacks and Regczel, fullback.

Neither team has been defeated or tied in Western Conference games, although the Illinois lost a 6 to 0 decision to Army.

DIXON GOES TO MENDOTA; HARD GAME EXPECTED

Lindell's Boys Are In Good Shape For Tomorrow's Game

By BRADLEY MOLL

Tomorrow the Dixon high school football team will journey to Mendota for the hardest game of the season—that against Mendota high. The game tomorrow is the second between the two teams in four years, the LaSalle county team having retired from the Rock River Conference a few years ago, re-entering only last year.

In view of last year's score—6 to 0 in Dixon's favor, Dixon scoring at the very start of the game—the Mendota line up, with six four-year men and eleven three-year men, and taking the word of the coaches and players, the game tomorrow will be the hardest—aside of that with Sterling—of the '33 season.

One Casualty

The Dixon line is practically intact, only one injury having occurred during the past week, when one of the linemen, William Flanagan, sustained a painful neck injury during scrimmage. He will be unable to play tomorrow. The rest of the team is ready for action and the game promises to be interesting to all the way.

Mendota has made a good showing this year, it's only defeats being at the hands of Sterling, 13 to 0 and by Princeton, which has an exceptional team this season. Mendota has beaten several strong teams, including DeKalb, which Dixon meets at DeKalb a week from tomorrow, bringing the conference season to its climax.

Alumni Game

Friday afternoon, Nov. 17, will see the class of '33 squad—or alumni team—will line up against the present D. H. S. outfit. The game has been talked up a great deal and the '33 classmen will be pulling for their teammates.

Fourteen of them have been practicing all pepped up for the battle. The student body will turn out en masse, as the admission for them will be 10 cents; while another enthusiasts, including '33 grads, will be charged only a quarter. The proceeds from the game will be devoted to the purchase of athletic equipment for the high school.

The alumni team will be almost entirely representative of last year's team, and short sketches of the players will be published from time to time prior to the game.

MICHIGAN TEAM LEFT THIS MORN FOR CHAMPAIGN

Wolverines Will Be Favored To Beat Zuppke's Team

CHALLENGE FOR AMERICA'S CUP WAS ACCEPTED

New York Yacht Club Starts Plans For Races In 1934

New York, Nov. 3.—(AP)—The task of preparing to defend the America's Cup against the British challenger, T. O. M. Sopwith's Endeavour, was under way today.

Members of the New York Yacht Club, which holds the historic trophy, met last night to read the challenge of the Royal Yacht Squadron for a match, to begin Sept. 15, 1934, and to appoint a committee "with power."

It was generally assumed, of course, that the committee headed by Julius S. Morgan, club commodore, will forward a formal acceptance to the Royal Yacht Squadron and then take up the task of deciding upon a defender and settling the details of the series but that was not announced. The formalities must be gone through, step by step, without precipitation, it appears.

It is understood that a great deal of activity in connection with the cup defense already has taken place since first word of the challenge was given out in England in mid-October. A new cup defender in all probability must be built to match speed with Endeavour, the first all-steel challenger, which is expected to be faster than any yacht which ever has raced for the cup. News of plans to form two syndicates to build new craft has leaked out.

At all Michigan practice sessions this week there has been evidence that the Wolverines fear Illinois forward passes.

Michigan is expected to start an all-veteran eleven against the Illinois tomorrow, composed of Petoskey and Ward, ends; Wistert and Austin, tackles; Savage and Kolwalk, guards; Bernard, center; Capt. Pay, quarterback; Everhard and Heston, halfbacks and Regczel, fullback.

Neither team has been defeated or tied in Western Conference games, although the Illinois lost a 6 to 0 decision to Army.

On the basis of their previous performances the maize and blue will be favored to win Saturday, but Coach Bob Zuppke has had two full weeks to prepare for Michigan and the tricks he may be ready to spring have the Michigan coaching staff worried.

PILLAR OF SALT

By L. L. R.

Thoughts En Route:

The good effect the Fair has produced will be ruined if it is continued for another year. Why not let it rest as a beautiful memory? The paving of the Galena Avenue bridge should be resurfaced, if nothing else. I wonder if oil will eventually replace coal as fuel for locomotives.

For no good reason at all when I think of commuters I think of Communists. I wonder if mankind will ever be homogeneous from the racial standpoint. A lot of trouble will disappear when, as, and if the races are blended.

DeKalb—Here comes a couple of girls. But why do they ride in the smoker? Oh, yes, of course. The most obvious reason. They want to smoke. And, by gosh, they do smoke!

Funny thing. Nobody gasps when he sees a woman smoking now. The cigarette seems to be the only "gasper."

Why are the two young ladies eyeing me? Maybe they think they know me, but they don't. Maybe something is amiss. (Intermission). Nope, nothing wrong. Well, go ahead and look. I'll be nonchalant and light a "Lure-ad."

I'll be anxious to see the first stream-line train go through Dixon. In five years there will probably be few of the old coaches and freight cars left in service. Progress? Why, we haven't begun to progress yet.

That was a peculiar show I visited once in Chicago. All the dancers were men, and were dressed like women. And the dears could kick just as high as feminine trouper. It's a funny world, as Mr. Bundy would say.

The busiest corner in the world early Sunday morning. It would be perfect to allow the kids to roller skate or play tag in the center of the intersection. On Saturday? That would be a little different, of course.

Those girls are at it again. Well, we're nearing the station now; so letem look.
